BRAILA STILL THREATENED

Despatches indicate that Slavs will be forced to abandon Dobrudja Territory—Desperate Effort Made to Retain Braila, Important Grain and Oil Storage Depot

Events on the European battlefields are summarized from reports from capitals to the Associated Press as follows:

Russia's last remaining hold in the Rumanian province of Dobrudja has been so badly shaken by the loss of Matchin to Field Marshal Von Mackensen's forces that it seems doubtful if she can much longer retain her grip on any of this trans-Danube territory. Despatches from entente sources indicate an expectation that she probably will be forced shortly to abandon it.

West of the Danube at this point, Braila, the important Rumanian grain and oil storage depot, is still held by the Russians, but it is considered doubtful whether it can hold out long under as serious a threat as is supplied by the German Bulgarian operations across the river. The line of the Sereth, to which the Russians have retreated further northward, runs just north of Braila. The expectation is indicated in the despatches, however, that the prolonged defense of the city has given time for the removal of the valuable stores of provisions and materials which it contained.

On the Moldavian west frontier, where heavy pressure by the armies of the central powers has been exerted, the defense of the Russians and Rumanians seems somewhat firmer. The latest Petrograd official statement does not concede any further withdrawals along this front in the face of the Austro-German attacks, although further progress at one or two points was claimed by Berlin.

No operations of importance have been reported from any of the other fronts.

PUBLIC HEARING OF "LEAK" CHARGE IN PEACE NOTE

Washington, Jan. 4.—Public hearings on Representative Woods' "leak" charge in connection with President Wilson's peace note will begin tomorrow morning before the house rules committee. Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, Representative Gardner of Massachusetts will be the first heard. Lawson was today subpoenaed by telegraph.

Arrangements for the hearings were made by unanimous vote of the rules committee. Democrats said they expect to show that neither Lawson, Wood nor Gardner have any tangible evidence and say the majority members of the committee will be justified in reporting the Wood resolution unfavorable.

Republicans, obviously pleased over obtaining an open hearing declared emphatically today they would force a full investigation.

PRESBYTERIANS TOLD THAT DRY MOVE MAY SUCCEED

Pittsburgh, Jan. 4.—Rev. Charles R. Scanlon, D. D., general secretary of the board of temperance of the Presbyterian general assembly told the board at its annual meeting here today that there is a real chance that the prohibition amendment will pass both houses of congress at this session and then be submitted to the people. There is a good chance that the amendment will receive the endorsement of three-fourths of the states as 25 of them are now on the dry side.

Sixty per cent of the territory of the United States is now prohibitory territory, and 50 per cent dry. The board will continue its sessions during the remainder of the week.

TAXICAB

PASSENGER WHO VISITED MODEL'S HOTEL, IS SOUGHT BY PHILADELPHIA POLICE.

Chauffeur Files Affidavit Charging Pittsburgh Man With Defrauding Him Out of Taxi Bill.

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—Elwood Powell, a taxicab chauffeur, who told the police a few days ago that he drove a man to the apartment house where Maizie Colbert, the artist's model was found murdered, and that the man disappeared without paying the bill for the hire of the vehicle today swore out a warrant for the arrest of one Bernard W. Lewis, said to be the son of a coal operator of Pittsburgh, Pa., on a charge of defrauding him out of the taxicab bill.

Police efforts have been confined to a search for the young man who was driven to the hotel early last Friday morning in a taxicab and who failed to return to pay the chauffeur.

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—Police efforts in the search to find the murderer of Maizie Colbert, artist model and former manicurist, who was found beaten and strangled in her apartment here late last Saturday night were today directed to learning the identity of the man who was driven in a taxicab early last Friday morning to the street corner where the apartment house stands. At the same time the authorities are keeping under surveillance the wealthy young man from the interior of Pennsylvania who is known to have been a friend of the young woman.

"We have eliminated no one from the case," reiterated Captain of Detectives Tate. The wealthy young man who has been remaining at a local hotel here under an agreement with the police has not been seen by any one but close friends and detectives. According to his friends he has a complete alibi.

Men acquaintances of the murdered girl are still coming forward to tell what they know about Miss Colbert and to clear themselves of any connection with the case. One of the most prominent to appear was a man well known in the city who was a star baseball player in his college days.

The funeral of the murdered woman was held today. It was said that the expenses of the funeral were paid by men who knew her well. Through the revelations of two women, living in Germantown, a suburb of this city, the police believe they know the young man who entered the girl's apartment early Friday morning. He is said to have ridden to Germantown with the two women, proceeding in the taxicab from there to Miss Colbert's apartment.

From the two women, it is said, an excellent description of the man has been secured and police departments in several cities are reported to have been furnished with the description and asked to arrest him.

WILL URGE FUTURE PEACE

Note Sure to Be Sent if Entente Reply Fails to Meet Proposal for Early Statement of Peace Terms—Will Not Send Colonel E. M. House on Peace Mission

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Jan. 4.—If the entente reply to President Wilson's peace note fails to meet his proposal for an early occasion for an avowal of terms, the president will not let the negotiations drop, but will make at least one more move.

This became known definitely today, although it was indicated that no final decision on the nature of the next step had been reached.

If another communication is sent it is expected to make more clear the position of the president as it is felt that as a result of comment abroad and in the United States and the debate in the senate more or less confusion has arisen as to just what he intended.

President Wilson's chief hope in the ultimate success of the negotiations is known to lie in his suggestion that a means be found for maintaining peace in the future. If an agreement on that point can be reached, the president is said to feel it would constitute the "guarantee for the future" demanded by the entente allies and it might be possible then to return toward a settlement of the present conflict.

It was generally indicated today that the president has no present intention of asking Col. E. M. House to go to Europe on a peace mission. Colonel House was uncommunicative about his visit here and before coming arranged engagements which kept him busy until the time of his departure this afternoon.

While the president never has publicly indicated willingness to act as a medium for exchange of terms, secretly between the belligerents, and it is known that he would prefer that it be done publicly, American diplomats and other sources of confidential information have been looking into that point.

The negotiations were described today as being of a highly confidential character. President Wilson's friends say he is unconcerned over efforts to connect his note with the German peace proposals. Feeling that his sole object in sending the note was to learn just where each side stands, he is known to believe that in the end the entente allies as well as the central powers will realize that his move was not directed against either.

Ambassador Sharp at Paris cabled today he had been notified the entente reply would be placed in his hands soon, but gave no date, and it was said he sent no forecast of its contents.

PRISON EDITOR IS MISSING; GRANTED HOLIDAY PAROLE

Leavenworth, Kans., Jan. 4.—"Tex" Schapper, editor of "Square Deal," the prison organ at the Kansas state prison, is the only one of seventeen convicts granted Christmas paroles by Governor Arthur Capper who had not returned today. A telegram from "Tex" mother in Galveston, where he spent Christmas, said he started on his return to Leavenworth on Dec. 29.

Unless word is received sometime today of Schapper's whereabouts, Warden Coddin said he would be considered a parole violator and an order would be sent out for his arrest.

Schapper is serving an indeterminate sentence of from ten to twenty-one years for bank robbery.

The engineer at the throttle will be Pat Glancy, who promised Secretary of State-elect W. D. Fulton, previous to the late election, that he would handle the train that would carry the crowd to Columbus to be present when the Newark man is sworn into office.

It is expected that several hundred Democrats and Republicans from this city will board the train at the local station and an equal number from other towns in the county. STOCKS CRUMBLE AGAIN AS PEACE TALK IS RENEWED

New York, Jan. 4.—The stock market today, after two days of advancing prices based on a belief that prospects for peace were waning, crumbled on reports that further negotiations would be undertaken at Washington to bring the belligerent powers into accord.

The market during the forenoon was irregular with a heavy tone which seemed to be unexplainable and mysterious. During the noon, however, prices broke from three to six points and continued to fall off after the publication of Washington dispatches saying that the administration was contemplating one more step in the peace negotiations.

WELFARE

WORKER IN SING SING CAPTURED AFTER 6 MONTHS' LIBERTY

Also Has Record As Clever Christmas Cheek Forger Who Secured $75,000 On Checks

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, Jan. 4.—Ernest Le Ford, under arrest at St. Louis where he was registered at a hotel as James B. Harland, is known to the New York police, they said today as the "master hotel thief." He was once a chauffeur for W. K. Vanderbilt.

Le Ford escaped from Sing Sing prison last July. He was serving a three year term for the theft of $8,000 of jewels from a guest's room in a hotel here. He is also under indictment for the theft of jewels to the value of more than $50,000 from various other New York hotels. He was a member of the Mutual Welfare League of Sing Sing and escaped while working with a road gang near the prison. A nationwide attempt was made for his arrest.

The St. Louis police sent word that Le Ford had admitted his identity and told that after his escape he traveled all over the United States and to Honolulu.

Detectives employed by the American Bankers' Association declared today that a man arrested yesterday in a St. Louis hotel, where he registered as "A. J. Paget," was "Christmas Keough," so-called because he always chose Christmas week to circulate bogus travelers checks for $200 drawn on the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Toronto. Paget, or Keough, was arrested upon the complaint of the association's detectives charged with passing $2,000 worth of these checks upon New York retail merchants on December 23.

According to the detectives, Keough five years ago, just before Christmas purchased three $200 checks at the Toronto bank, cashed two of them and used the third as a model for the counterfeit checks, they allege, he has passed on stores throughout the country since that time. They expect to prove forgeries to the extent of more than $75,000.

BLAME HIGH PRICES OF EGGS ON SHIPPER; PROBE COAL PRICES.

Cleveland, Jan. 4.—Six coal dealers testified before the federal grand jury here today in the government inquiry into the coal shortage and high prices of fuel. Meantime fourteen members of the Cleveland butter and egg board waited to tell what they knew of high food prices. Joseph Liddle, member of the board said:

"I'll tell the jury the board is not an organization that is back of the hold up game. We merely set prices that will be maintained by all the dealers. The high price of eggs can be blamed on the shipper, not the commission man. The shippers in their competition to obtain quantities of eggs offer producers outrageous prices and charge us accordingly."

COKE PRODUCTION SHORT.

Cornellville, Pa., Jan. 4.—Estimates coke production for the week was 231,311 tons and of coal 180,000 tons, which reduced to a coke equivalent made a total coke production of 445,000, a reduction of 29,000 tons from the preceding week. Continued car shortage and lack of labor brought about the decrease, many coke workers having sought other employment because of uncertainty of work at the ovens.

NO MORE CONFERENCES

American Members of Commission Advise President to Act Independently in Withdrawal of Troops and Settle Other Matters By Diplomatic Exchange—New Representative

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, Jan. 4.—The American reply to General Carranza's rejection of the protocol for withdrawal of American troops from Mexico was taken today to Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican commissioners, in New York, by Dr. John R. Mott, of the American commissioners.

Whether there is one more session of the joint commission will depend upon the Mexicans. There will not be a continuation of the conferences however. The report of the American commissioners that further negotiations with the Mexicans were useless has received the approval of President Wilson and if there is another meeting it will be merely for the observance of the formalities of ending the conferences. The American commissioners advised the President to act independently and of his own initiative in the withdrawal of troops and to provide for diplomatic channels through which other questions can be taken up.

The American commissioners continued their conference with the President, but it is known that he agreed with them that further negotiations would be useless.

Unofficially it was reported that Ignacio Bonillas, who has served as one of the Mexican commissioners, would be brought to Washington to succeed Blase Arreola Arrando as ambassador but at the embassy it was said there were no such advices nor was there confirmation at the state department.

ENDORSEMENT OF PEACE NOTE IS AGAIN POSTPONED

Washington, Jan. 4.—A vote on Senator Hitchcock's resolution to have the senate endorse President Wilson's peace note was again postponed today by the parliamentary situation.

Senator Lodge completing his argument in the senate, today against the resolution declared its adoption would be a leap in the dark and precipitate congress into the midst of uncompleted negotiations concerning which it knew nothing.

Senator Lewis, Democrat, of Illinois, began a defense of the resolution, contending it did not involve the nation into the unprecedented situation suggested by Senator Lodge.

Senator Lewis argued that the resolution would merely approve the action of the President in sending a note requesting terms of peace and not the contents of the note which might involve other issues.

When debate on the Hitchcock resolution was automatically cut off in the senate today by expiration of the so-called morning hour, Senator Hitchcock insisted on a vote on his request for it to continue.

Liquid Fire in War.

Liquid fire as a war weapon is thus described in an English journal: In the earliest models the combustible liquid was propelled by a gas condenser out of a portable or fixed reservoir and was ignited by some automatic device as it escaped from the nozzle of the projecting instrument. Later a double barreled liquid gun was devised, having the upper barrel much smaller than the lower and pivoted so as to turn independently. The fluid is shot from the two barrels simultaneously, but only that from the upper one ignites automatically.

This small, burning stream is so directed that it unites with the larger, nonburning one at any desired point and then, of course, ignites the larger jet. The small stream is then shut off, the large one continuing to flow. The flames do not spread backward along the jet toward the nozzle, but are carried forward to the target and, striking the ground, form a veritable sheet of fire, which continues to ignite the fluid as fast and as long as it falls.

Pikes Peak's Cyclopean Eye.
A writer in the Technical World Magazine, describing the immense light on Pike's peak, says:

"The venerable head of that most famous of mountains, Pike's peak, has been given an enormous eye. In Denver, seventy-five miles away, this eye can be seen flashing to and fro on clear nights, and in Colorado Springs, fifteen miles away, the 'company' on the front porch is likely to be shown up in a bright light at any moment by the cog railway's searchlight."

"The giant light is 11,472 feet above sea level and is capable of flashing signals over most of central Colorado. It has been placed on a platform twenty-five feet above the summit house. Current is supplied by the turbines that convert the power of the peak streams into electricity. The searchlight is attached to a semaphore that the operator moves at will, searching out the dark beauty spots throughout the region or touching upon sections of Colorado Springs and even Denver and Pueblo when the great banks of cloud do not blanket the cities far below."

Lost Skill of Ancients.
From the earliest periods of which we have historical records one of man's greatest problems has been to lift heavy loads rapidly and efficiently. Some of the greatest monuments of antiquity were built under conditions that involved lifting of heavy pieces of building material to great heights, but how it was done we do not know to this day. The manner in which the great stones were raised in Egypt has always been a mystery and probably always will be. It is certain, however, that the builders of these wonderful monuments were possessed of mechanical contrivances that were lost in the dark ages intervening between their time and ours or they possessed patience to a more remarkable degree than is exhibited in any race of men at the present time.—Engineering Magazine.

How Water Freezes.
It used to puzzle all thinking people why ponds and rivers do not freeze beyond a certain depth. This depends on a most curious fact—namely, that water is at its heaviest when it reaches 40 degrees F.—that is, 8 degrees above freezing point. On a frosty night as each top layer of water falls to 40 degrees it sinks to the bottom. Therefore the whole pond has to drop to 40 degrees before any of it can freeze. At last it is all cooled to this point, and then ice begins to form. But ice is a very bad conductor of heat. Therefore it shuts off the freezing air from the big body of comparatively warm water underneath. The thicker it gets the more perfectly does it act as a great coat, and that is why even the Arctic ocean never freezes beyond a few feet in thickness.

Underpaid Postage.
Insufficient postage on letters is a serious handicap to American business abroad, reports our acting vice consul at Genoa, Italy. A letter from the United States to Italy bearing a two cent stamp entails upon the recipient a payment of at least 6 cents as a penalty. "The poor impression upon Italian firms created by short paid letters," says the report, "becomes, finally, by repetition, very great. Special care in affixing the proper postage would bring ample returns by removing a cause of complaint which has exerted an unfavorable influence in foreign business."

Force of Habit.
He was an old merchant who had built up a big business by advertising. "John," said his wife, "what do you want on your tomb stone?" "Oh," he answered, "it isn't very important what the text is so long as it gets good space and is well displayed."—London Telegraph.

Salt in the Sea.
The volume of the saline matter in the ocean is a little more than 4,900,000 cubic miles, or, according to the United States geological survey, department of the interior, enough to cover the entire surface of the United States to a depth of 8,500 feet.

Two Views.
"Life," said the optimist, "is one grand sweet song."
"Say, rather, a rasping graphophone record," growled the pessimist.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Pinheads.
"Ta, when is a man a pinhead?"
"When his head stops the point of a thing from going any farther, my son."—Baltimore American.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.
Keep Fresh on Your Bones. A liberal allowance of fat is needed for perfecting the shape of the body. Fat gives form and roundness to the body. Fat is needed to help maintain and regulate the body heat. Fat people do not feel uncomfortable from the chilling blasts of winter, as do their less favored lean and lank brothers. Fat acts as a reserve substance which the body can draw upon for nutrition in case of emergency too. If one is inclined to tremble about his weight let him think what it would mean to him to be deprived of his most protective covering of fat. Intemperance in health usually results when there is a marked loss of fat from the body.

BOPP'S TRIAL IS NEARING THE END; TO JURY SATURDAY

(Associated Press Telegram)
San Francisco, Jan. 4.—The trial of Franz Bopp, German consul general here, and six others on charges of conspiracy to violate American neutrality was nearing its close today in the United States district court. The last witnesses were expected to give their testimony today, and both sides believed that arguments would begin Friday morning, and that the jury would take the case not later than Saturday.

For the last week the government has attempted to connect C. C. Crowley, an agent of the German consulate, with the alleged dynamiting of munition shipments for the entente allies in the United States and Canada. Crowley testifying in his own behalf, has asserted that his missions to Puget Sound and Canadian points were to investigate shipments of war supplies to the Russian government and Canadian troop movements. German consular officials said that some of Crowley's reports were used as the basis for a protest filed with the state department through the German embassy.

John A. McGregor, president of the Union Iron Works of this city, called yesterday as a witness for the defense, corroborated Crowley's previous testimony that submarine parts made here, were sent to Canada and assembled by mechanics of the Union Iron Works.

SHORTAGE

OF CARS AND TALK OF PEACE INFLUENTIAL FACTORS IN DECEMBER BUSINESS.

Little Diminution In Business Is Noted by Reports to Federal Reserve Board.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Jan. 4.—Peace talk and the car shortage apparently are recorded as influential factors in the nation's commercial life during the past month in reports of general business conditions from federal reserve agents made public today by the federal reserve board. Business activity shows little diminution, the boards summary states, and in the east, south and middle west the record volume of business remains at its high levels.

Reports from the twelve districts show:

Boston—With talk of peace, hesitation has become more pronounced and manufacturers and merchants generally are awaiting developments before taking on new commitments.

New York—Advices from a large number of firms and corporations show that trade and industry in general have continued active and practically unchanged notwithstanding developments in the war situation, disturbance in money rates and unsettled stock markets.

Philadelphia—There is apparently no decrease in the activity of the leading industries and complaints concerning the difficulties in the production and delivery of goods are still heard.

Cleveland—Entirely inadequate railroad facilities and a shortage of fuel have caused some curtailment in operations during the past month.

Richmond—Trade, agriculture and other reports indicate a continuance in the full tide of prosperity with occasional conservative notes of warning in anticipation of a readjustment to more normal conditions.

Atlanta—Conditions have not materially changed. There is an abundance of money in this section and a feeling of confidence that the prosperous times are to continue.

Chicago—All authorities report a continuation in the large volume of business. There is no marked evidence of recession due to peace rumors.

St. Louis—The extreme activity of business in this district reported for November has been even greater during the present month. The increase is apparent in practically all lines.

Minneapolis—Generally favorable trade conditions are marred only by increasing difficulties resulting from car shortage and the traffic situation.

Kansas City—Latest reports confirm the increasing commercial records of the year with no serious deterrent features.

Dallas—Merchants are enjoying a

HORSE TRAINER SUFFERS BROKEN RIBS AT TRACK

Joe Smith of Bladensburg was painfully injured at Mountbush Park, late Wednesday afternoon.

Germany's Intensive Farming.

Germany has an area equal only to the three states of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri. Yet Germany produces three-fifths as much oats, four-fifths as much barley, six times as many potatoes and nine times as much rye as we produce in the whole United States.

In the last thirty years German rye production per acre increased 87 per cent, while the United States increased 10 per cent; German wheat increased 58 per cent, ours only 14 per cent; German barley 60 per cent, the United States 10 per cent; German oats 85 per cent, our own 6 per cent; German potatoes 80 per cent, ours 7 per cent. It is a notable achievement for a nation whose soil resources are poor and which for the last thirty years has been thought to be specializing on industrial development.—New York Mail.

EUROPE'S

NATIONAL DEBT INCREASED 49 BILLIONS SINCE BEGINNING OF THE WAR.

Federal Reserve Board Estimates.
Do Not Include Revenues Derived from Internal Taxation.

Washington, Jan. 4.—The increase in the national debt of Great Britain, France, Russia, Germany and Austria-Hungary is estimated by the federal reserve board at $49,455,000,000 from the beginning of the war to the latter part of 1916, with the exception of Austria-Hungary, in whose case the estimate extends only to May, 1916.

Twenty-nine billions is the three entente nations' share for the total and twenty billions is that of the two central powers.

This estimate, the board stated in tabulations made public today is approximate and does not cover the cost of the war, as large revenues of undetermined amounts have been raised by internal taxation. Following are the estimated national debt increases:

Great Britain, to November 11, 1916, $12,253,358,000; France to August 31, 1916, $8,038,500,000; Russia to December 31, 1916, $7,973,276,000; a total of $29,265,132,000 for the entente; Germany, to October 27, 1916, $15,260,000,000; Austria $3,716,200,000; Hungary $1,214,000,000, a total of $20,192,200,000 for the Germanic nations.

Great Britain's national debt, the board estimated, was approximately $15,163,750,000 in November, having risen from $3,449,812,150 in March, 1914. Loans to allies and dominions included in the grand total are estimated at from three to three and a half billion.

France's total loans to her allies during the war are estimated at approximately $330,000,000.

The national debt of Russia has risen from 9,888,310,000 rubles, January 1, 1914, to 25,220,336,000 rubles (about $13,114,386,720) at the close of 1916.

Bank note circulation in Germany has increased greatly during the war as in other belligerent countries, the total of reichbank notes in circulation December 7 last being placed at $1,652,271,000 as against $450,212,619, July 30, 1914.

The cost of the war to Germany since Rumania's entrance is placed at about $524,850,000 monthly and the last new credit granted by the reichstag, $2,850,000,000 October 27 last is estimated to be sufficient for about five months. The number of subscribers to the various German war loans is placed at 16,928,057, the fourth loan offered last March, having the largest number 5,279,645.

The figures were taken from foreign sources which the board considers reliable.

BURGLARS FIND READY SALE FOR STOLEN SILKS

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Jan. 4.—Reports received by burglary insurance companies show that silk worth more than $200,000 was stolen from loft buildings here during the last year. The thefts were due, one expert said, to the demand for silk, its high price and the ease with which it can be marketed when stolen.

Because of the difficulty in identifying stolen silks, it was said that less than one-tenth of one per cent of the silk has been recovered. One case is reported where two thieves stole $2,000 worth of silk and sold it for only two cents a yard less than the market value.

British Minister Blamed For Coal Embargo In Norway

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, Jan. 4.—A Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that most of the Norwegian papers have attacked the British minister in Christiania in connection with the embargo on coal proclaimed by Great Britain.

The Norsdke Intelligenssedler reports that the Norwegian reply has been handed to the British representative and leaves no doubt that Norway is loyally maintaining the export prohibitions regarding fish and other goods. The Gazette says that there is a great quantity of coal in Norway and no prospect of a shortage.

GERMANY'S VERSION

(Associated Press Telegram)
Berlin, Jan. 4. (Wireless to Sayville)—The Overseas News Agency says that in future delivery of coal to Norway will be permitted by the British only in case Norwegian ships carry coal to Italy and France at fixed rates.

SELECT JURORS WITH GREAT CARE IN BOMB TRIAL

(Associated Press Telegram)

San Francisco, Jan. 4.—Unless the veniremen summoned for jury duty in the trial of Thomas J. Mooney, charged with murder growing out of a bomb explosion here last July during a preparedness parade, believe that there is only one kind of an anarchist and that he is an idealistic person with an abhorrence for violent deeds, they will not be acceptable to the defense. This was the view taken today by attorneys who followed the trend of questions asked yesterday by the defense of prospective jurors. Six jurors, temporarily passed by both sides, were in the box when the trial was resumed today.

The state contends that Mooney was the leader of a group of "direct action" anarchists who planned and executed the bomb explosion, causing the death of 10 persons and injury to 40 others. W. Bourke Cochran of New York, chief counsel for the defense asserted that there is only one kind of an anarchist.

"A real anarchist," he said, "believes that human beings are of such super-fibre that they would get along harmoniously without any government at all."

ESTABLISHED IN 1820.

Entered as Second Class Matter
U. S. Post Office at Newark, Ohio, under the Act of March 4, 1879.

Newark's Government.

The electors of Newark will be called upon on March 13, to vote upon the question of changing the form of government under which the city now is being managed. This special election has been ordered by the city council upon petition of more than 10 per cent of the qualified voters and the question to be determined is not merely one of a change in the personnel of one or more of the executive, administrative or legislative departments, but strikes deeper, involving the very organic law of the municipality. In a limited sense it is analogous to adapting a new or radically amending an old constitution in state or nation, and the effects would be felt for better or worse even more intimately by the individual, as it concerns more nearly his every day interests.

An organization of citizens called the Efficient Government League, has been formed, whose avowed object is to change the present form of Newark's government to a commission city manager, or federal plan or a combination of these three.

To this end the organization has put forward the names of 15 men for whom it will ask the support of the electorate, to form a commission that will draw up a charter for submission to the people. It is decided on March 13, to change the city government.

On the other hand no organized opposition to the charter plan has yet developed, yet it exists, and many arguments are made upon this side of the question. These will vote "no" upon the general proposition of any change.

The vast majority of those who will vote at the March election are not close students of different forms of government, and judge only by the results, believing that efficiency depends more upon the honesty and capability of individuals having authority, than upon any inherent defect or virtue in one or another system.

The Advocate as yet is non-committal upon the subject, having only in view the accomplishment of that which means betterment and progress for the city along stable lines. There are two sides to the question. Each, this paper believes is honest in its contention and deserves a hearing.

To the end that the voters may know the why and wherefore of the supporters of a charter for Newark, as well as of those who oppose a radical change in the city's form of government, The Advocate from time to time will publish authentic interviews with men of each shade of opinion, who have given the matter careful study and speak with authority upon the subject.

This election will be an important one and each elector should qualify himself to vote intelligently.

Modern Astrology.

People who have a leaning toward the occult have been talking about the death of Madame de Thelles, the famous Parisian astrologist and clairvoyant. The most rational skeptic can scarcely account for some of her forecasts. Among her claims of correct predictions were the European war, San Francisco earthquake, and Galveston flood. But she went wrong on forecasting the death of Kaiser William September 29, 1914.

In this scientific age astrology is regarded as a relic of a superstitious lore. Yet the number of people who believe in it and follow the practitioners of the art is more than most people realize. The occult, the dark side of nature, the unseen forces of the world, have for them an endless fascination.

It is an amusing side of human life, except that many people are forever rushing to the astrologers and the clairvoyants for decisions in doubtful matters when they ought to think things out for themselves. Before making any important business change, they consult some of these so-called prophets. The seer being a person of keen perceptions, can make a shrewd guess from the facial appearance and mannerisms of the client, what kind of work he is fitted for. In many cases the opinion proves to be correct, but in

Spirit of the Press

What's the Reason?
According to the constitution the legislature entered upon its official duties last Monday, but the governor does not assume office until next Monday. Thus a whole week elapses before the legislature gets a word from the governor as to its duty. The Republican governor is on duty a whole week with a Democratic legislature on his hands, and of course public business is locked up and the key lost. Peace is Wanted.
Whatever views of Germany's peace proposals may be held by men in public life in this country, they certainly should not be controlled or affected by what is best or worst for America. The people of the United States want peace in Europe as soon as a just and lasting peace can be obtained, and they are perfectly willing, if that should be necessary, to sacrifice some of our present prosperity to obtain this great end.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

When Japanese Wives Become Jealous.
When a married man in Japan is attracted by another woman, his wife makes a straw effigy of her rival and, in the dead of night, goes out in stealth and nails the figure to the trunk of a tree in a shrine-ground cemetery, or any other dreary place. For several days she goes there every night, driving a new nail into the figure each time, meanwhile praying for the other woman's death. It is believed that with the driving of the nails, the Bismark's Last Cigar.

(Yorkshire Post.)
With all his brusqueness and even, at times, brutality, Bismark, says Frederick Marvin in Fireside Papers, had much of the "live and let live" philosophy, and it humanized him so that men loved him and willingly followed after him. The story of the last cigar at Koenigsgratz illustrates what has been said.

"The value of a good cigar," said Bismark, as he proceeded to light an excellent Havana "his best stood when it is the last you possess." At Koenigsgratz I had only one cigar left in my pocket, which I carefully guarded during the whole of the battle as a miser does his treasure. I did not feel justified in using it. I painted in glowing colors in my mind the happy hour when I should enjoy it after the victory. But I miscalculated my chances. And what was the cause of my miscalculation? A poor dragon, the day helplessness with which I was crushed, asking for something to refresh him. I felt in my pockets and found only gold, and that would be of no use to him. But stay, I had still my treasured cigar! I lighted this for him and placed it between his teeth. You should have seen the poor fellow's grateful smile! I never enjoyed a cigar so much as that one which I did not smoke.

Mob Savagery In 1916.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)
Fifty-four persons lynched in the United States in 1916, as against 67 thus put to death in 1915, indicates an abatement of mob savagery, but it is more apparent than real. The department of 13 in numbers lynched is gratifying only until one has read the list of offenses for which the victims suffered. Only 12 persons were killed for assault, six persons were lynched for stealing goods and assisting another person to escape, four for wounding officers of the law, one for slapping a boy, one for brushing against a girl in the street, one woman for defending her son, another woman for assisting her son to escape. These were all trivial or minor offenses. Ten persons were lynched for killing officers of the law; in these cases mob action could not be justified by the most ardent advocate of "making punishment sure," since the law undoubtedly would have dealt commensurately with the criminals. Fifty of the victims of mobs were Negroes, three being women. Georgia remained true to its faith in mob law, since in that state 14 persons were lynched, more than a fourth of all so suffering. The data is supplied by Robert R. Moton, president of Tuskegee Institute. It may be indicative of the influence of that institution and its work that in its home state, Alabama, there was only one lynching last year.

Getting Drunk With Opera Glasses.
The same sensations, minus the alcohol, experienced by an intoxicated person who is trying to walk in a straight line or on a narrow sidewalk which is only 30 feet wide, can be had by anyone who takes the trouble to draw a straight line on the floor and then look at the line through a pair of opera glasses in a reversed position. After the glasses are focused try to walk on the line. You will find it impossible to follow it closely. The line will look like an ink scratch on a surface miles away and the closer you look and try to follow the line the more vexed your vision becomes.—Popular Science Monthly.

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Rheumatism depends on an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too torpid to carry it off.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and at the same time it improves the digestion.

Some time ago Mrs. R. C. Dunlap of DeKalb, Mo., wrote to the St. Joseph, Mo., News-Press telling how, after years of suffering with stomach trouble, she had been relieved of a quantity of gall stones and restored to health through using Fruitola and Traxo. This letter was published and read by Mrs. Georgia Coe Thomas of Lancaster, Mo., who had been told by her doctor, after months of treatment for similar trouble, that nothing but an operation would save her. Mrs. Thomas obtained Fruitola and Traxo from the drug store, and after a dainty lunch, the many guests and members departed, feeling well repaid for the wonderful afternoon with Shakespeare.

Milady's Boudoir

Care of the Eyes.

It is a little matter for wonder that woman's eyes, exerting even a moiety of their powers, should grow tired as the day wears on. The eye is probably the most abused of the special senses. Women can shut themselves away from noise, and indeed from sounds of all kinds; the tongue refrain from tasting for hours on end; the sense of smell is comparatively seldom excited; but the eyes during the daytime are always open and working at high pressure. An eight hour day for the eye would be quite enough, but many are the tasks that do their 12, 14 and even 16 hours a day without turning an eyelash.

Now this excessive degree of eye-work, involving as it does a very large amount of muscular and nervous wear and tear, is excessively fatiguing. No wonder its victims suffer from headache and all other symptoms displayed by the tired eyes.

The hollow eye, the sagging tissues that encircle it, the drooping eyelids, all testify to the fact that the organ of vision has been worked beyond the limits of human endurance, and those ill-looks which it produces are its signals of rebellion. And yet to shut one's eyes is the simplest thing in the world. Eyes are expressly provided with curtains which can be drawn in a fraction of a second. Yet we weary our eyes all-day long looking at things not worth looking at. Many of us would be thankful if on one occasion we could close our eyes or our noses as easily and quickly as we can close our eyes. Whenever, possible, therefore, in the course of a busy and fatiguing day let the eyes be closed.

Ventilate the Hair.

The hair often suffers for lack of ventilation. An ideal manner of ventilating is to remove the top crown of an old straw hat, then comb the hair from all directions to the top of the head; the hair is then brought up through the top of the hat and allowed to fall evenly over the brim. Allowing the hair to hang in this manner, one may attend to one's household duties. Wearing the hair so also assists in thoroughly drying it after a shampoo.

The hair is subject to various ills, most of which may be overcome by simple "home treatments." I pin great faith in the shampoo, brushing and ventilation. If the hair is taken down at night time, the ends caught and every hair subjected to a good shaking, will not only rid the hair of any accumulation of dust, but will also ventilate the scalp and hair. Then with an absolutely clean brush the hair is repeatedly gone over—the bristles made to penetrate to the scalp—until the hairs stand out separated from each other. The hair is now allowed to hang loosely until time for retiring. Then instead of doing the hair up tightly, as many women do, braid it in two soft plaits; these may be allowed to hang loosely during the night or, if preferred, wound about the head.

Most women know that washing spoils a brush. The best way to clean them is to rub them with bran, which removes all grease, and leaves the bristles stiff and firm as ever. Should the bristles of the brush become too limber for use, they may be hardened again by dipping them in one part spirits of ammonia and two of water. This will also cleanse them from all greasy substances.

The Use of Perfumes. The modern woman does not indulge extensively in perfume about her person. If she uses it at all it is so delicate as to be a mere breath and of a high grade that will not grow stale and heavy after contact with the air. Offentimes she obtains the desired effect by secreting her favorite scent in her lingerie drawer, in her hat box and among her furs, or by a spray directed to her hair, which is, by the way, one of the first places to show heaviness due Unique Colony.

Close by the great rock of Gibraltar is Catlin bay, where is to be found a colony so queer that it stands out almost as a tribe distinct in itself. Many generations ago during a storm a sheet of Genoese fishermen put into the sheltered spot and so escaped the fury of the sea. In the boats, so history has it, were many women, and they became so enamored of the spot that huts were built, and they remained. Hundreds of years have passed, and the little tribe still lingers on. The government has given them a grant of land, and a village now clusters in the shelter of the bay. Strangest of all, it is said the population dare not increase for fear it will overstep its boundary, and marriage is allowed only in rotation. No marriage, so it is claimed, may take place in the village until a way has been made for it by a death. The people are squat and ugly and look amazingly like one another. It is a little colony of cousins, dwelling apart in the shadow of a great rock and going down to the sea in ships to earn a hard won livelihood.—Exchange.

Weakness of the Pilchard. Very similar to the herring, a quaint method of distinguishing the pilchard exists in Cornwall, the home of the pilchard fisheries. The difference between the fish lies in their center of gravity, for if one holds a pilchard by the back fin it will remain horizontal, while a herring tips downward. One seldom sees the fish in the London markets, however, and in order to gain its due share of appreciation the pilchard has to journey to Italy and the Mediterranean. Many factories exist in southern England for the express purpose of salting and packing the fish in this for exportation, the method used being similar to that used for sardines. Pilchards, too, resemble sardines, though their flavor is somewhat stronger. Years ago an attempt was made to smoke pilchards—like herrings—for home consumption, but the experiment proved useless, for the weight of the body broke the neck and the fish fell into the fire.—London Answers.

Vegetable Lamb. One of the most remarkable natural fetishes in the world is the Chinese kouchl, called by some people "the vegetable lamb." It is regarded by the natives of China as something supernatural. They believe it to be part vegetable and part animal. The plant certainly bears a resemblance to an animal, although it might be taken for a pig as readily as a lamb. Kouchl is composed principally of the plant part known as rhizome and springs from seed. After attaining its height roots and tendrils spring from the fiber and grow downward until they enter the earth. It is this peculiar formation which has caused it to be regarded with so much awe. The Chinese claim that after it has reached its full size it ceases to be vegetable and turns animal, feeding upon the tender shoots of plants which grow near it.

It Depends on the Dog. Two Broadway business men met before a bar. They were good friends. "I'm worried a little," said one. "My chauffeur ran over a dog today and killed it."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry about a little thing like that," said the other. "The dog probably got in the way. These dogs are a pest."

"But it was your dog."

"What?" came from the second. "My dog? I'm sorry, but that will cost you $100. That chauffeur of yours is too careless. I insist on the hundred, understand."—New York Telegraph.

So 'Twould. "How would you like to take a trip in a submarine?"

"I shouldn't care for that," replied the society bud.

"Why not?"

"Oh, dear! Must I really tell you? An ocean voyage would be frightfully boring, you know, if there were no place to dawdle."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Rack Rents. A "rack rent" is a "rent that is equivalent to the full net annual value of the real property out of which it issues, or approximately so." By statute in England today rack rent is defined as "not less than two-thirds of the full net annual value of the lands out of which it arises."

Teaching Birds Tricks. A professor of natural history refutes the statement so frequently made that teaching a bird to draw water needs apparatus and that the learning is cruel to the bird.

"The following experience of mine," he says, "proves that it is not so by any means. We bought a young bird last January, so wild that on our approach it flew madly round the cage. We hung the cage low and by patience, after the bird got used to our proximity, induced it to take ground, first held at stem's length, then between the fingers, finally from the lips. We used to let him out freely, and he would perch on the loft next me at breakfast. His perch projected through the wires, and here was his favorite seat when at liberty. Then I tried hanging a bit of groundsel by a short string to the projecting stick. After inspection he pulled it up with his beak. On lengthening the string with a fresh bit of his preferred weed I had the pleasure and interest of seeing him pull up the string with his beak till the flower head was within reach, catching the slack after each pull with one foot and then transferring it to the other, so that the coils were quite neat."—London Globe.

Water Pressure. As early as 1048 a Frenchman of science named Pascal experimented with pressures applied to liquids and discovered the following law: A pressure applied to any part of the surface of a liquid is transmitted unchanged in amount in every direction through the liquid.

Perhaps the most familiar application of Pascal's law is the hydraulic press. In that machine a pump having a small piston drives water into a large cylinder and thereby forces, upward a large piston, which compresses whatever is placed between the platform of the piston and the fixed crossbeam at the top of the press. If the area of the smaller piston is 100 times that of the larger a downward force of one pound exerted on the smaller piston will create an upward force of 100 pounds upon the larger piston.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

LIKE A BOY AT 50 BUBBLING OVER WITH VITALITY—TAKING IRON DID IT

Doctor says Nuxated Iron is greatest of all strength builders—Often increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous folks 200 per cent. in two weeks time.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man. In fact a young man he really was not, withstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—Nuxated Iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health, at 40 careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50 a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions, and take simple Nuxated Iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which starts their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, rundown people who were along all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like Nuxated Iron if you want it to do you any good. Otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize-fighter was won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the arena, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply or the lack of iron.—E. Sauer, M. D.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. Sauer is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose ingredients are widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach, on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, rundown conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 50 who lacks strength and endurance, and who takes Nuxated Iron, in nearly all forms of indigestion, or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Wm. A. Weight Handicap Attracts Fans for Friday Night's Bowser-Ross Argument

Indications that the weight handicap agreed to by Paul Bowser in his match Friday night with Kid Ross, Billy Schoeber's unknown, have aroused the interest of Newark wrestling fans, are found in the advance seat sale which has been unusually heavy. Local fans who saw the last match between these two men, more than six weeks ago, admired Ross for his skill and strength. They realize that he is no mean opponent for Bowser at catch weights. They believe that Bowser's agreement to make the 158 pound limit promises even a more interesting fight.

The two men will weigh in on the stage so there will be no doubtful announcement of weights just before the match starts.

Bowser has been busy this week training in an effort to get down to the weight agreed upon. He has done a vast amount of road work daily, something he has never felt the need of in previous matches.

Unusual care has been exercised in selection of talent for the preliminary, an effort being made to offer events which will compare favorably with the big match.

HIGH SCHOOL'S QUINTET GETS GOOD QUARTERS

The board of education has leased the old Methodist church at the corner of Fourth and Church streets from A. J. Baldwin for the use of the athletic department of the High School. The lease covers a period of three years beginning in April of this year, making four playing seasons for basketball.

The first practice of the team was held Wednesday afternoon and the material of a first class team showed up. The team will be handicapped for the first two or three games by lack of practice as the high school boys had given up the idea of a basketball team until the leasing of the hall was announced.

Professor L. G. Millor, the coach of the team, stated that games were scheduled with Glenford for Friday of this week and with McConnelville for the following week. Both games will be played away from home to enable the floor here to be gotten into shape to accommodate a crowd.

The building, which has been spoken of as condemned, was inspected by a fire marshal from Columbus and was pronounced O. K. The marshal suggested that a stairway be built at the west end of the hall to provide an extra exit in case of need. This is now being built. A new floor has been put in and four tier seats will be built on either side of the floor to provide for an adequate seating capacity, which will be 400.

At the present time a complete schedule has not been completed but a good one will be arranged and will be announced in a few days. Meanwhile the boys are practicing faithfully in anticipation of the games to be scheduled.

The hall is the finest the High School has ever had and the coach, Mr. Millor, and the boys are very much satisfied with it.

KILONIS TAKES TWO FALLS FROM "BULL" MONTANA

Lancaster, Jan. 4.—John Kilonis, the international Greek wrestling champion, defeated "Bull" Montana here last night in three falls. Montana took the first fall in 18 minutes and 15 seconds with a head hold and a second fall in 29 1-2 minutes with a flying head lock. Securing a toe hold, Kilonis took the third fall in nine minutes.

Columbus, Jan. 3.—After two months of so-called investigation of election errors in an effort to find evidence on which to base a request for a recount of ballots, Republicans at last are admitting their failure. ALHAMBRA

Tonight.
"Keep moving! Don't block the traffic!" The Alhambra theatre has arranged to have several traffic policemen to keep the crowds in line tonight, when the latest World Picture Brady-Made, "The Men She Married" will be shown. "Why the display?" Cast includes Gail Kane, Arthur Ashley, Montagu Love and Muriel Ostriche. Can't you imagine the throng that's bound to turn out to see that collection of stars in one feature.

Friday and Saturday.
When Frank McIntyre was playing on the stage in his great success "The Traveling Salesman," he had a few clever remarks to make about a fat man and a Pullman sleeping car. But when the Famous Players Film Company decided to star the celebrated comedian in an adaptation of the play, he was informed, to his dismay, that he would have to play the scenes in the sleeper instead of talking about them. Inasmuch as McIntyre would spin the indicator of a Fairbanks around almost as many times as the cartoonists like to depict it in all drawings showing a fat person on the scales, one may readily imagine that he did not relish the idea of folding himself into the regulation sleeping car apartment. But he did it—and "The Traveling Salesman" is the Paramount Picture at the Alhambra theatre, Friday and Saturday.

AUDITORIUM

"The Battle of Life."
Gladys Coburn, the dainty William Fox star, has one of her biggest roles in "The Battle of Life," and she has played it with her customary skill and appeal. Art Acord is featured with Miss Coburn.

This clever drama is the Auditorium feature today and to those who love big-bang melodrama with battles galore, should surely see this one and with the story which is very cleverly portrayed, you will surely spend a pleasant hour and a half.

For next Sunday Mgr. Penberg offers that favorite screen star Douglas Fairbanks, who is seen in the Triangle wonderplay "The Half Breed." If you have any idea that "Doug" cannot be serious and get away with it, this picture will convince you that he can. The versatile comedian gives us characterization in this which registers as one of the most human appealing parts that he has appeared in for quite some time.

It is thrilling especially where the Indians set fire to the forest. In addition to this we are to see a laughing two reel Keystone comedy "A la Cabaret" with Ora Carew.

Mutt and Jeff's Wedding.
The best evidence that a theatre manager can offer his patrons as to the actual merits of an attraction that he is offering for their approval is the undisputed facts concerning its success elsewhere. What is said here concerning the success of Gus Hill's production of Bud Fisher's great cartoons, Mutt and Jeff, can easily be verified in the news columns of almost any newspaper. You can then imagine with what pleasure the people look forward to seeing these two funny fellows in real life, depicted by real and clever comedians who are playfully fitted to properly portray every movement that Bud Fisher has contrived to be funny. Mutt and Jeff have actually created a sensation never before known in theatrical history. In New York City, where the play ran to record business at the Grand Opera House and at the Manhattan Opera House in Chicago, where it ran fifteen weeks to actual on sale at the box office. The engagement is for next Saturday afternoon and evening.

"The Lady Buccaneers"

Richard Zeisler's "Lady Buccaneers" will be the attraction at the Auditorium theatre next Monday afternoon and evening. The "Bucks" will offer for approval a scintillating musical farce of every day life, with scenes laid in New York City, called "Spending a Million." Miss Flossie McCloud is the "big" young lady upon whom Frederick Hackett, an Irish contractor, and Will H. Cagau, a Hebrew pawnbroker, lavish most of their millions, in the doing thereof, one funny complication follows another until the audience is in an uproar. It is the sort of skit that is calculated to please the patrons of Burlesque houses, by reason of its laugh compelling situations, daring costumes, catchy tunes, beauty of its lyrics and talent of its principals.

Mr. Claude Kelly, the author of the farce will be seen as an English bar tender, William Harris, will appear as the "introducer" for a "consideration." Dick Hahn will be seen as a tramp, Elo Owens, plays the part of "Injured Innocence," while Miss Madeline Rowe, the stately prima donna will chaperone the party.

NOT EVERY ONE CAN DO THIS

A tourist traveling with a party of friends was seized with a sudden illness and was compelled to remain for some hours in a hotel. He insisted that the others must go out and enjoy the day and said that he would spend a few hours composing a palindrome—a sentence the letters of which are in the same order whether read forward or backward.

"All right," said one of the party, "but you'll never beat the sign I saw in a country store when I was a boy and red root was in some demand:

"RED ROOT PUT UP TO ORDER."

When the party returned the sick man's face wore a triumphant smile as he handed the following lines to his friend:

To prove him to a doubting maid,
Ned a bold, dangerous task essayed,
And when he came in triumph home
She answered with a palindrome,
Eye half his fervent plea was done,
Now Ned, I am a maiden won."

It wrung from the most conservative critics the enviable title of being the greatest financial and artistic success in a quarter of a century. You don't want any better evidence than this, do you? The stunts take place in a tank of water, over which a mirror has been arranged in a manner that gives the audience a vision of the swimmers. Most of the fancy diving tricks are done by Mermaidia herself, but at the finish they, I get busy and merit the generous applause always bestowed upon them. "The Foolish Virgin"

The Auditorium will soon show Clara Kimball Young in her second big special feature "The Foolish Virgin" by Rex Thomas Dixon, author of "The Birth of a Nation," and many other features that have proved big successes.

Albert Caplan is the director and the cast is said to be the best of the Selznick Productions company. Miss Young is perhaps one of the most popular screen stars and should draw capacity business to the Auditorium during the screening of "The Foolish Virgin."

HOW SOME PLANTS ARE PROTECTED

Many plants protect themselves from their enemies by the use of spikes or prickles and venom, just as certain animals do. Of those using the first named device there are, as a naturalist pointed out, innumerable examples. The bramble, the rose and the holly are familiar instances of shrubs and trees "armed to the teeth," so to speak. Many plants imitate the reptiles in arming themselves with venom.

Of these are the deadly nightshade, or belladonna, and the nux vomica. Less destructively inclined are those plants which are simply protected by their disagreeable taste. The common buttercup, which is one of these, is generally shunned by horses and cattle. A plant which is protected by a disagreeable smell is the figwort. Only that hardy and insensitive animal, the goat, will touch it.—London Answers.

Resinol

certainly does heal eczema

In our file of reports, covering a period of twenty years, literally thousands of physicians tell how successful the Resinol treatment is for eczema and similar skin troubles. The first use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap usually stops the itching and burning, and they soon clear away all trace of the eruption. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval.

Sold by all druggists.

Prepare This for a Bad Cough—It's Fine

Cheerily and Easily Made, but Does the Work Quickly.

The finest cough syrup that money can buy—costing only about one-fifth as much as ready-made preparations—can easily be made up at home. The way it takes hold and conquers distressing coughs, that and chest colds and hoarseness, really make you enthusiastic about it. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Shake thoroughly and it is ready for use. The total cost is about 54 cents and gives you a full pint—a family supply—of a most effective, pleasant tasting remedy. It keeps perfectly.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed or swollen throat membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough will disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with quassia and is known the world over for its prompt healing effect on the throat membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THIS STOPS HAIR FROM FALLING OUT

Ever try to count the dead hairs in your comb and brush? They are nature's advance warning of future baldness and proof that the dangerous little dandruff germ is busy on your scalp.

Dr. Samerlund, the famous Paris specialist, first discovered that dandruff and falling hair are caused by a microbe. Then came the discovery of the value of red Parvum Sacc (yeast) in destroying the dandruff germ and promptly preventing the further loss of hair. The effect of only three or four applications of this simple preparation, and the American people have now awakened to the fact that dandruff is not a necessary evil, but an avoidable, curable, and preventable condition. And that they can quickly rid of it and save their hair by using a few ounces of Parvum Sacc.

Parvum Sacc is sold for not more than 10 cents a ounce, and is sold in drug and toilet counters everywhere. It is an ideal dandruff performer. It is free from grease and skin irritants, and will surely cause hair to grow soft, lustrous and really seem like a fountain.

W. A. Brown always has a large supply, and guarantees it to you. (Advertisement)

John Adams Was a Poor Loser.

John Adams, second president of the United States, was not a good loser. He wanted another term and worked hard for it. None of the candidates received a majority of the electoral votes, and the election was thrown into the house of representatives. But Adams had no chance there, for he was third in the race, and only the two having the highest number of electoral votes could be voted for. Thus the choice lay between Jefferson and Burr, and Jefferson won. Adams was very much disappointed and did everything in his power to make things unpleasant for his successor. He filled every vacant office he could lay his hands on, so as to leave as little patronage as possible for Jefferson. Not only so, but in the closing hours of his administration he and his party associates created twenty-three new judgeships, for which there was no necessity, and worked till the stroke of midnight on March 3 filling out and signing commissions for these "midnight judges," as they were called.—Argonaut.

The Hydra Is Its Own Doctor.

A tiny marine animal which consists merely of a stomach and a mouth surrounded by tentacles and which is capable of turning itself inside out is called the hydra. Sometimes the hydra's mouth becomes overstretched through its taking in too much food. The animal promptly turns itself inside out, ejects the superfluous food and then returns to its normal condition. If it turns itself inside out and can't get back again it eventually dies. The hydra is its own physician and performs miracles of healing. If a tentacle is cut off a complete animal will be formed out of it. If the body is cut in half and the pieces placed together they will grow together again; if not, two entire animals will be formed, and any part of one animal will grow on to the cut surface of another.

Real Heroism.

A story came from Switzerland some years ago of a mountain guide whose name was not preserved. He, with two others, was leading a party over one of the most precipitous passes of the higher Alps. The men, as is usual, were tied to each other by a long rope. As they scaled the wall of ice they slipped on the edge of a frightful chasm. This man was at the end of the rope. Without his weight there was a chance for the others to regain their footing; with it there was none. He cast a glance down at the dark abyss, filled with fathomless snows, then drew his knife from his belt, saying quietly to the man next him, "Tell mother how it was, Jose."

He cut the rope and fell, never to be seen of mortal man again.

The Mistake.

In his biography of Alexandre Dumas Harry A. Spurr says that the imprudent French author, who hated avarice, was once waiting in line for his cloak at a soiree when he saw a millionaire give a tip of 50 centimes (10 cents) to the servant who handed out his paletot. Dumas, getting his cloak, threw down a 100 franc note. "Pardon, sir; you have made a mistake, I think," said the man, offering to return the note. "No, no, friend," answered Dumas, casting a disdainful glance at the millionaire, "it is the other gentleman who has made the mistake."

Ready For Her.

"Who are those husky gentlemen? I never saw them at one of your musicales before."

"Oh, they're all right."

"Do they sing?"

"No, but they'll come in handy. Mme Squalleria always wants the piano moved."—Pittsburgh Post.

One Mystery Solved.

He—You say these biscuits are exactly like those your mother used to make? She—Exactly. He—Then that explains why your father paid a physician $50 to say that biscuits of any sort would be absolutely fatal to him.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Faints and Cuts.

Fainting spells or light states of unconsciousness are frequent. If encountered and are brought about by lack of a sufficient blood supply for the brain. When a person begins to feel faint he should sit in a chair and hold his head by clasping the hands behind it and forcing it downward. If he is not able to do this he should be laid flat on his back with his feet elevated. A few whiffs of aromatic ammonia or a half teaspoonful in a wine glassful of cold water is a good remedy, but to have the head low, the feet high, the clothing loosened and plenty of fresh air are the most important measures.

Slight cuts may be bathed with peroxide of hydrogen, but lacerated wounds, especially if dirt has got into the wounds, should be cleaned as soon as possible with gasoline or turpentine and then painted with iodine. If dirt has been forced into the wounds they should be made to bleed freely and the services of a physician secured for advice against tetanus or lockjaw. As to burns in a mild degree, a simple dusting powder of borated talcum or ordinary baking soda is sufficient. Oily or sticky dressings should not be encouraged.

ENJOY HEARING NEW VICTOR RECORDS.

The flute, violin and harp combination of the Neapolitan Trio is especially suited to the plaintive "Sweet Spirit Hear My Prayers," from the Venetian Trio (violin, cello, and harp) in "Hope" offer one of the richest and most beautiful of Mendelssohn's Songs Without Words. Francis J. Laplino's arrangement for the harp of the favorite "Hymn" of Dvorak, played by himself, is one which will give much delight and his transcription of Mendelssohn's "Consolation" is effectively suited to his instrument. A Medley of Irish jigs and another of Irish songs are presented as according to the title, by John J. Kennedy. Joseph Moskwowitz plays two excellent solos on that strange instrument, the cembalo; H. Benne Henton offers a charming waltz, "Laverne," on his saxophone, played with a captivating freedom of rhythm; and another saxophone number, a "Chin Chin Medley Fox-Trot" is contributed by those gifted players, the Six Brown Brothers and will be found interesting to dancers as well as to lovers of popular music.

Attracted to the new Victor every one, and it is all now available at any Victor dealer's. To everyone who has a Victrola these new Victor Records will mean additional delight, but even those who do not possess one of these instruments will enjoy hearing some of this music.

The Making of Chipped Glass.
Sheets of glass that are covered with a shell-like raised pattern are in use for screens, partitions, electric light fixtures and other purposes. This chipped glass, for the pattern is often really chipped out of the surface, involves a process that is interesting. The sheet of glass to be treated is placed under a sand blast in order to give it a grain. This ground surface is next treated with a solution of good glue, and the glass is placed in a drying room on a rack, where it remains for some hours. Next the sheets of glass are removed to the chipping room, where they are placed on edge back to back, with the coated surfaces outward. This room is heated by steam coils, and when the heat is turned on the glue reaches its utmost degree of elasticity and curls off the glass in pieces from the size of a dime to that of a silver dollar, but it adheres so closely to the glass that in its effort to get free it tears a piece off the surface, the result being a beautiful pattern.

Wigg—"Those everlasting anecdotes of Rhones bore me to death. The old chap is really in his dotage." Wagg—"Oh, that's merely his needage."

Even on the road to Success some people hesitate to travel unless they can get an upper berth.

CITY IS BETTER, SAYS ABBOTT IN POLICE REPORT

State and city cases in the Mayor's court for the year 1916 totaled 1,787, according to a report compiled by Headquarters Officer George W. Abbott after going over the records of the court. This is 134 fewer cases than were heard in the same court in 1915 and 207 fewer than in 1914. In submitting his report to Police Chief Sheridan, Officer Abbott remarks: "I think this indicates that the village is growing better."

The report shows that there were 734 cases prosecuted under the city ordinances and 1049 under the statutes. Of course cases of intoxication led all the rest. There were 231 such cases prosecuted under the city ordinance and 738 under the statutes, a total of 1069, more than half of all the cases heard by Mayor Bigbee. Disorderly conduct was next with 152. Gambling cases numbered 52. Train riding 96, fighting and assault 103, petit larceny 49, burglary and grand larceny 30, operating into contrary to law 32. There was but one prosecution for murder. May was the largest month's business when 249 prosecutions were disposed of by the mayor. September was second with 199. February the shortest month, also made the record for the fewest cases with but 88 prosecutions. Of this number 51 were for intoxication, leaving 37 for all other cases.

ICE HARVEST AT BUCKEYE LAKE IS IN FULL PROGRESS

Residents along Buckeye Lake have been cutting ice for the past week and the ice houses are now practically all full with seven to ten inch ice. There should be no famine next summer and prices will not be excessive as they have been in the past when dealers were enabled to get as high as $1 per hundred. Skating has been exceptionally good at the lake and scores of persons have been enjoying the sport, many going out on the interurban cars to take advantage of the smooth, clear ice. There are many fancy and graceful skaters, in fact it has become a fad with people in this vicinity.

POOL PARLOR WILL OCCUPY MAZDA THEATER ROOM

The room formerly occupied by the Mazda theatre in West Main street has been remodeled and handsomely redecorated, the floors lowered and leveled, a new front erected and new fixtures installed and it will be occupied by A. L. Lindemuth, of Barnesville, O., who will operate a temperance pool room, cigar, tobacco and news stand. A lunch counter will possibly be operated in the rear. Five pool tables and one billiard table will be installed and Mr. Lindemuth expects to open his new place of business Saturday.

OPIE READ WILL LECTURE IN NEWARK.

Prof. O. J. Barnes announced today that he had secured Opie Read to appear upon the High school lecture platform on Tuesday, January 16th taking the place of Dr. Cadman, whose army service made it impossible to fill his Newark appointment. Opie Read will present "Old Jim Jacklin."

Old Jim Jacklin, in Opie Read's book, "The Jacklins," is one of the best known characters in American fiction. The London Times declared that "The Jacklins" was the brightest book that has ever come Eastward, and that "Old Jim" was without question one of the most unique characters known to any language. James F. Barnes, the English novelist, not long before he died, said that "Lancelot Jacklin, Philosopher and Humorist," was credit to any literature and to any age. In Mr. Read's new lecture, entitled "Old Jim Jacklin," he invites the charming old man to step forth from the pages of the book and to deliver a lecture, telling of his visit to the city, giving his reflections and philosophical observations that grew out of it. It is not only one of the most original lectures ever delivered but will live as a piece of humorous and philosophical literature. From beginning to end it is replete with the strongest common-sense, touching upon nearly every phase of life and human nature. The audience can easily—indeed is forced—to imagine that Old Jim Jacklin himself is on the platform. Without question it is a work of art. Numerous magazines have requested it for publication but it will not be printed during the life of the author.

On the platform at Clarence, Mo., Senator LaFollette made this statement: "I have heard nearly all the lectures, and in my opinion 'Old Jim Jacklin' is not only the most original but withal one of the very best lectures I have ever heard."

MUSTARINE

For Chills and Sore, Aching Feet
—All Misy Cases When Mustarine Is Applied.

Your feet are inflamed, this is why they ache. That's why they burn and sting and keep you feeling miserable. Half a tin of Mustarine tonight and you'll have the inflammation right out. Just rub on Mustarine freely tonight and it will go the agony from Sore Feet, Corns and Chills. If people who suffer from Sore Feet only use Mustarine and nothing else, they could be all day simply applying a little Mustarine. They would not have to get a foot bath. You'll wonder why you never thought of Mustarine before.

Druggists everywhere can supply Mustarine in the yellow box, 25 and 50 cents. Never sold in jars.

COURT CLERK DAVIS MAY KEEP HORTON AS DEPUTY

Three of the county officials elected last November are already at work on their new jobs. Prosecutor Flory, Coroner Jackson and Sheriff Swank assumed their duties the first day of the year, the coroner and sheriff succeeding themselves.

Probate Judge Robbins Hunter will succeed himself the first Monday of next month.

Leo Davis will succeed Bert O. Horton as county clerk. It is rumored that the latter will remain as Mr. Davis's Deputy.

Treasurer Will H. Miles will succeed himself the first Monday in September. On that date Frank R. Dudgeon will succeed O. C. Martin as county recorder and J. C. Butt, C. D. Lake and J. E. McCracken will be sworn in as county commissioners, succeeding Jos. H. Orr, Frank R. Dumm and Orville Kiger.

Fred Wilson will not be sworn in as auditor until the first Monday in October. He has not yet announced his deputies.

Sheriff Swank today named E. C. Legge as his first deputy and Frank Brown second deputy, the latter also being appointed jailer.

DESERVES GOLD MEDAL FOR THIS

Cincinnati authority tells how to dry up a corn so it lifts out.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once and soon the corn loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A quarter of an ounce of freezezone costs very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue or skin.

ATTENDANCE AT POULTRY SHOW MAY SET RECORD

Indications are that the attendance records at the annual exhibition of the Newark Poultry Association will be broken this week and a new mark set for future shows. The first day's attendance was larger than the entire week last year and the second day was larger than the first with indications that the last three days would even exceed the mark of the first two days.

There are several reasons assigned for the unusual interest. The poultry exhibit is larger and the birds are better quality. The state exhibit which consists of hundreds of pheasants, skunks, coon, fox, squirrel, doves, etc., is proving a big drawing card. The location of the exhibition room is more convenient to the public and that, the association secured for this exhibit a sufficient number of uniform exhibition coops, ideal for the purpose.

An extra effort has been made to keep the exhibition rooms in an attractive condition, disinfectant being used freely to eradicate any unpleasant odor.

The judge of the show was hard at work yesterday scoring the birds and much of this work was completed.

Visitors yesterday spent many minutes about the cages in which the state was exhibiting the two families of "deodorized" skunks. These animals can be described by no other word than "cute." The state has two families of these animals, one of them coal black and the other with the usual white markings on the back.

The display of pheasants is one of the best ever seen here, there being a large number of practically every variety.

The show continues through this week.

Feed for Hens.

That a simple ration consists of corn and a protein supplement is more economical under usual market conditions than a mixture of several different feeds for laying hens in winter is shown by feeding tests at the Ohio Experiment Station.

Corn and meat scrap have given practically as good returns as a ration of corn, wheat, oats, bran, middlings, oilmeal and meat scrap. The hens fed the simple ration had access to self-feeding hoppers containing a dry mash made of eight parts of ground corn and five parts of meat scrap analyzing 50 per cent protein. They received twice as much corn, fed in equal portions in the litter twice daily, as they consumed of the mash, and also had grit and oyster shells.

The hens fed the variety ration laid more eggs, but not enough more to pay for the extra cost of their feed. Tankage and skim milk, as well as meat scrap, are recommended to be fed with corn for laying hens.

Other topics will be discussed that will be for the welfare of the citizens of Newark. Remember the date, January 5. Ben Montgomery secretary.

LEGAL SIDE OF ARSENIC POISONING

New light has been thrown on the legal side of arsenic poisoning. It has been found that arsenic compounds are absorbed by the hair of living persons, though not absorbed after death. In the hair of man arsenic has been known to reach a concentration of one to five parts in 100,000. The deposit takes place in the hair after it has been absorbed by the abdominal organs—liver and kidneys in particular. Therefore, in case of acute, quick poisoning, a chemical analysis of the hair would show no arsenic, while it would be found in the liver and kidneys. On the other hand, if slow arsenic poisoning was suspected, analysis would show arsenic in the hair, but not in the liver and kidneys, and it could safely be assumed that the poisoning was not recent. The legal value of such evidence is apparent.—Scientific American.

CITY'S PRISONERS EAT $2,520 WORTH IN LAST YEAR

The cost of feeding the prisoners at the city prison for the year 1916 was $2,520.72 according to the figures at the office of the city auditor. Prisoners are allowed 13 1-3 cents a meal so that makes over 18,000 meals served during the year.

EMPLOYEES ARE PROTECTED
Pending a decision by the United States supreme court as to the constitutionality of the Adamson eight-hour law, the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has issued a circular stating that the company will pay its employees under the old schedules and that accurate records will be kept of the earnings of each employee affected, so that in the event that the law be upheld any additional compensation will be paid promptly.
